

Welcome to Escapade 29

Escapade 29. Twenty-nine. That's at least 97 in convention years. That's Escapade 30-minus-1, and we're excited to be here in today's ever-growing world of girl power and greater representation on and off the screen.

As we remember our roots, we hope we continue to reflect the changes around us: more programming, more vids, more dancing. New activities in non-traditional spaces: bar, atrium, guest rooms. Gaming. Charging stations so you can live tweet more easily in panels and stay in touch with online friends. A place for crafty fans to share their wares on Friday morning. A fun, creatively organized art show and auction.

This year's dance party and vid show are amazing (and abundant). Long-time attendees might think it's the old days, with shows so full of vids and bonus programming. Newer fans might be intrigued to see how things were done back in the dark ages, before computer editing. If you miss Luminosity all weekend, join her and Nestra on Sunday morning for the vid review. Thank Kandy for her presentation of historical vids in the dance party break.

Though we're at the same hotel, we're making a special effort to introduce folks to various locations and function space. Take a look in "What's New" for tour times and other details.

Special welcome to attendees who are younger than the con. You'll carry fan-run conventions into the future. Special welcome to attendees who are older than the con. You blazed the trail when the world was a colder, meaner place.

Start planning now for Escapade 30, and how to help create our fan-run con for the next generation.

Convention Guidelines

Safe Space. The phrase “safe space” didn’t exist when Escapade began in 1991. We created it without a name.

The world changes, and with it our understanding, so now we spell it out: we welcome all fans regardless of orientation, preference, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, age, or ability. The Evelyn D. scholarship is available specifically for trans or questioning fans. People are here for folks with questions about themselves or about the changing world. Welcome. Create the conversation.

Inclusion. If you feel unwelcome, find a con-com member. If you feel unheard in a panel, find a con-com member. We’re committed to personal responsibility, respect, and being each other’s allies.

Photos. You need the permission of anyone you want to photograph. If someone’s badge has a red bar across the top, it means “NO PHOTOS” period. Don’t even ask. Respect the “no photos” rule.

Press. Whenever a member of the press is in attendance, it’s because they have agreed to respect our community’s rules of confidentiality and engagement. They won’t quote you without your permission. Their badge will say “PRESS”. If you like the press, welcome them. Spread the word about Escapade and your view of fandom. If you don’t, keep walking. No worries.

Consuite Food. We start the convention suite snacks with a big initial buy, as well as extremely generous gifts from people like Dail and De and Franziska and Stranger, who bring chili and barbeque and brownies and cookies to share with all of us. We’ve added hot snacks Saturday in the late afternoon. Please eat consuite food in the consuite. Never bring outside food into any function spaces. Respect the Tongs. Keep everyone safe and healthy.

What's New?

\Guided Tour & Mod Panel Thursday Evening: Tour of the convention space (7 pm Laguna) and “How to Mod” panel (7:30 Newport). Both repeat Friday after the Welcome panel.

Fan Fair: Crafty fans will be displaying (and selling) their creations. Friday 9 am-noon Del Mar.

Charging Stations: In each function room and the consuite, there will be a designated charging station for your devices.

Meetups: Small-group discussions (up to 6 people) in the atrium throughout the weekend. Three are scheduled, more may be added. More details at the welcome panel. Sign up in the consuite.

Food Safety in the Consuite: Tongs and more serving utensils, as well as stricter controls of which foods are kept hot or cold, help everyone stay healthy. Please be considerate of fellow fans.

Extra fandom panels: We nearly doubled the number of slots devoted to fandom-specific panels this year.

Dungeons & Dragons: Brak makes the game accessible and fun for newbies or experienced campaigners. Friday 4-6 pm Redondo.

Even more vids! Because we got more amazing vids than we could fit into the Saturday night vid show, we have about half an hour of bonus vids Saturday afternoon in Redondo.

Art Auction new rule: three written bids are required to send a piece to live auction for the first time ever at Escapade.

Starbucks discount. Present your con badge at the Starbucks inside the Residence Inn next door for a 10% discount on your order.

Press. On Saturday, a press fan (think of our scholar fans) with Wired Magazine will be enjoying the con. She is committed to our privacy requests as we continue to support the rights and freedoms of our attendees. Only those who choose to talk on the record will be quoted. Her badge will say “PRESS.” You’re free to engage or not, as you choose.

Games & Puzzles. We’ve moved the cache of games and puzzles to Redondo. Borrow and play. Return when you’re done.

What's Ongoing?

The Zine Library: hundreds of old-school fanzines are set up in the Consuite each year. See what the fuss was all about, or check out an old favorite for nostalgia's sake.

The Slash Swap Meet (in Marina del Rey) was born at Escapade almost twenty years ago. Fans drop off collectibles from fandoms they no longer love. Others find new stuff they adore, and make a donation to the Swap jar. It's generous. It's on an honor system. It's awesome, and it supports both the con and charity (ACLU).

Please be quiet and respectful of any panels in the same space.

Live Tweeting/Blogging. Share during panels; let the conversation reach the rest of your fannish world. Be sure to post quotes without the speakers' names (not even their badge names) unless you have permission. (Get volunteer hours for live tweeting your panels!)

Scholarships recognize vidders; grand hostesses of Escapade; and fans who are non-binary, transgender or questioning. They bring fans to the convention, and help reduce the cost of membership for students, new attendees, or any fan in need. Thanks to everyone who donated to the Scholarship Fund. Be sure to say "hi" to Seperis and Luminosity, our primary recipients this year.

Fundraising. Continuing the conversation from the Escapade Review last year, we all want to reduce cost as a barrier to entry to Escapade. Come to the Fundraising panel Saturday at noon to brainstorm. Thanks everyone who's donated a raffle prize, art, or fannish labor (we're looking at you, Lum) to the auction, or who donated directly to the Convention Fund.

Resources

Schedule Online (with links to download the Program Book and one-sheet schedule) has a mobile-friendly view. You can sign up for the few remaining DIY slots, too: escapadecon.net/schedule/

Large-format schedules are posted on the inside of panel room doors, and in the Consuite. Pick up a sign in the Consuite to promote your DIY panel onsite!

Who to Ask What

Misti is mistress of the convention suite. She organizes volunteers, food, donations, and the zine library. You can see if the consuite is available for a party, use the spare room for fandom pimping. On Sunday, her team will be around to pre-reg you for Escapade 30.

Naked Bee is the art show maven. She organizes the displays while she runs the art show and auction. She welcomes the awesome art show volunteers, and wears beautiful clothes.

Ken manages the dealer's room and Orphan Sales table, and will talk Trek, Hannibal, Twin Peaks, and anything fannish. Visit Ken and the dealer's room, because the people there are as interesting as the items they have to show and sell.

Megan will help you if you have problems with panels, people, the hotel, or the schedule. Charlotte will do the same, or direct you to Megan. ☺

Melina, Franzeska, Jo, Killa, and Kandy prepared the Friday night dance party vid show, the Saturday night premiere and Saturday afternoon bonus reel, and the vid historical on Friday. Thank them for their hard work curating and compiling the brainchildren of our creative vidders!

ride_4ever is Escapade's one-woman welcommittee. Say hello if you've been chatting online. She'll help you with any details of the con—what to do, who to ask, how to get something you want if it can be gotten, and how to register for next year.

Who Else Made Escapade Happen

Acknowledge pre-con work by Dail, Aral, Kris, Elanor Graves, Constance Penley, Snow, other generous underwriters of the scholarships and the convention, and all of the people whose names we forgot.

Say “thanks” to anyone you encounter volunteering this weekend; they make the convention work (and amazing).

Locations

Suite 430/431: Consuite, with registration; volunteer check-in; other fans; the fanzine library; snacks and sometimes hearty food; a room with a TV and HDMI cable set up so you can pimp shows to new (or old) friends; etc. Bring your own media and player.

Catalina – Dealer Room

Del Mar – Art Show and Fan Fair

Laguna/Malibu – Meta panels, Dance Party, Vid Show, Auction

Marina del Rey – Fandom panels, Game Night, Swap Meet, Vid Annex

Newport – Meta & Fandom, Friday Night Party

Redondo – Tech/Alt/Vid, Games and Puzzles

Atrium – Meetups and more. That huge central open space in the hotel that makes some of us think of Ceres Station from The Expanse. It's the place for breakfast and happy hour (free to hotel guests), meetups, and where some of the best conversations start before panels or continue after them.

Pick up a sign and stand from the Consuite to (not so subtly) invite others to join your conversations, games, or activities.

Art Show

Enjoy all the eye candy in Del Mar. Share your appreciation with onsite kudos for (the artists appreciate the feedback), and bid on art you'd like to take home.

Historically, one bid made the art yours, and two sent it to auction. This year, art requires THREE BIDS to go to auction. Be aware, be safe, and check to make sure the art you want goes home with you! Your bid is your promise to pay. Art sold at Escapade supports creative fan artists, the convention, and the con charity (ACLU).

Plan to attend the art auction on Sunday morning after breakfast. Shoshanna is an amazing auctioneer, and she and our runners ~~dress provocatively~~ put on a great show.

Captain America/MCU: The End of the Line

gwyneth rhys

Marina del Rey

Captain America fandom has taken a lot of hits lately: we didn't even get a real third Cap movie, the Cap Family barely existed in Infinity War, and the end of Chris Evans's contract means Steve Rogers as we know him has left the building after A4. A lot of fans are convinced Steve will be killed off. Will Cap fandom wither and die the way most closed canons do, or will things like the Bucky and Sam streaming series and the comics help keep it alive in some form? Can we keep the Cap love alive? #escapadecon #Cap

Identity Imposter Syndrome: Am I Queer Enough?

glymr, ChelleToo, Charlotte C. Hill Laguna/Malibu

Do slash fans and writers have the right to call themselves 'queer'? Historically, slash fans have often self-identified as part of the queer community. But is simply being a fan of slash 'enough' to call oneself queer in today's (ironically) more tolerant environment? #escapadecon #Imposter

Venom: Mainstreaming Tentacle Fucking

Calysta Rose Marina del Rey

Venom and Eddie prowling the streets, looking for bad guys to eat, first comes screams, then comes blood, next comes Venom railing Eddie; like on a cellular level, it's fucking wild and hot like burning. Bring your love for tentacles and all-consuming love & sex! #escapadecon #Venom

Plus maybe there will be a little singing along... #escapadecon #VidsAndMusic

What if the End is Not Enough?

Saklani

Laguna/Malibu

What happens when your favorite show, book series, or cinematic universe ends but the ending sucks? What if its abruptly cancelled with things unresolved? What if the writers make a decision so heinous, everyone jumps ship? There's no denying fandom knows how to fill these voids with fic and art, but how do fans deal with it when the thing we love is suddenly over? Let's talk fandom depression and how to deal. #escapadecon #EndIsNotEnough

Shipping on Ships: Age of Sail Fandoms

Fantastic Bits and Where To Find Them

MlleMusketeer

If there's one thing we've learned from The Shape of Water and the Venom fandom, it's that the only better thing than a nice smutfic is a nice monster smutfic. But how to handle the nookie? ### Marvel: Tony Stark - genius, billionaire, playboy, philanthropist

Teresa, Tayrin

Marina del Rey

Let's talk about the man MCU seems to blame for all the evils in the world. Why does he get blamed for everything? Does his wealth mean he is held to different (higher) standards? I am all about the Tony Love but the movies seem to want to wallow in Tony whump. He is a fascinating character to explore and examine in the movies and how he has been developed, marginalized, villainized, victimized, and celebrated. Come share fic that fixes some of things that drive you crazy. #escapadecon #TonyStark

The fall of tumblr

Lola, aerialiste

Is the Fannish Gift Economy Passe?

k8 paintedmaypole, Aral, Megan Kent

Laguna/Malibu

One component of the recent AO3 wank involved the idea that fanfiction authors should be allowed to solicit financial compensation through their fanwork pages. The idea of fandom as

Saturday Programming

a gift economy has shaped fan activity and fandom communities for decades, and has been used as part of a justification for fanfiction's legality. But fan artists have also routinely sought compensation for their work during that same period of time, and the internet has only made that easier. Will more and more fanfiction writers also begin writing for commission, or setting up financial support subscriptions? Is the idea of the fannish gift economy becoming passé? #escapadecon #GiftEconomy

Let's talk about why Magnus and Alec's relationship is so damn satisfying, let's talk about the wonder of Magnus Bane and Harry Shum Jr.'s portrayal of him, let's talk about fic recs, and let's speculate about the final 10 episodes, which begin airing the weekend of the con. #escapadecon #Shadowhunters

Fandom Post-Slash?

Megan Kent, k8 paintedmaypole

Laguna/Malibu

In an era of "ships" and #pairing #tags on Tumblr and AO3, has the "slash" label lost its meaning? Same-gender pairings are as popular as ever and fans still ID pairings with a virgule between the names, but how many fans still call m/m and f/f slash or femslash? How many fans identify as "slashers?" Het and slash were opposing binaries which few fans crossed. Are these barriers breaking down? What purpose has the term "slash" served? Has fandom moved past it and, if so, what does that mean? #escapadecon #PostSlash

The Exorcist is ours now, what shall we do with it?

Dorinda, Keiko Kirin

Marina del Rey

Hey, who wants to talk about The Exorcist (TV)? I know it got cancelled, but that just means now no one can ruin it! Are you into ensemble expansions, conspiracy shenanigans, or even more intense passionate Marcus/Tomas? (And/or Marcus/Peter? And how does having canon m/m there affect your approach to Marcus/Tomas?) Also: Marcus and Tomas: screwed up characters or MOST screwed up characters? How so amazing yet also so fucked up? #escapadecon #Exorcist

The Magicians! Yay! Panel!

Seperis, Jen

Newport

Teleporting bunnies, cancer puppy, the great cock of the darkling woods... The Magicians is dark, weird, queer, and much adored by its fans. What does your Magicians fandom look like? Do you watch it? Ship it? Read it? Vid it? Something else? How are you a fan of this series? What's your entry point into this franchise? Do

Sex Toys

Elf, fashes ilia

Redondo

Very few fics include sex toys with a couple, unless it's part of a BDSM scene. We see a lot of masturbation with toys, but IRL, couples also use these! Bring pictures or actual sex toys that you're willing to show off, and let's talk about how they could make an appearance in fic. #escapadecon #SexToys

5:00 pm

The End of the Megafandom?

Tree Wishes, Megan Kent

Laguna/Malibu

Used to be there were those juggernaut fandoms that just ate up everyone. Who remembers when Master/Apprentice hit? Or when everyone was writing Sherlock AUs? What are your thoughts? Will there ever be another Harry Potter? #escapadecon #Megafandom

Marina del Rey

Fandom Heals my Trauma

fashes ilia

Newport

I would like to chat with you about how fandom can act as a healing agent for our past wounds and hurt. I was raped. Fandom support and fanfic helped me see sex as pleasurable again.

This panel is intended to be an open discussion where we can share and learn from each other. I used to moderate a PTSD peer support group, so I will be very focused on creating a safe space for all of us where we don't criticize each other or negatively compare our experiences. (Please do not blog this panel.)

Representation Matters But Purity Wank Sucks

k8 paintedmaypole, Aral

Laguna/Malibu

The months of discussion during Racefail 2009 helped fandom come to a more nuanced understanding of the politics of representation. We know representation matters, we argue continually for better representation of marginalized identities in our tv shows and movies because we know that the images and stories we consume do affect us and do impact society. But calls to ban underage fic and redefining it as "pedophilia" are the worst kind of purity wank. So can we have a more nuanced conversation about underage and age differences and power imbalances that doesn't rely on denying that art can possibly affect us personally or affect society politically? #escapadecon #PurityWank

Harry Potter a second look

Teresa, Tayrin

Marina del Rey

As the later books came out did you go back and reread the earlier books? Did certain events take on a completely different meaning or make a greater impact? Did info about the series given after the final book by Rowling alter your views? Did characters you loved, hated, saw as 'light' or 'dark', stay that way or radically change? Did reading fics change how you saw the series? Revisit and explore Harry Potter with a wiser, older, jaded or maybe a fresh look. #escapadecon #HarryPotter

Fully Grown Adult Women and the Other Women Who Love Them

Stranger, Barbana, MlleMusketeer

Newport

We have been blessed recently with some deliciously femslashy films and tv shows featuring rich subtext (and even occasionally text!) between women who are grown ass adults. Movies like the Ghostbusters reboot, The Heat, Ocean's 8, and Widows gave us interesting, complex relationship dynamics among middle-aged women. Shows like Sabrina the Teenage Witch have older female characters that are spawning active femslash fandoms. Who are
